

Preparing Children for Life in Modern Britain

British Value	Statement	Evidence	Impact
Mutual Respect and Tolerance towards those with different Faiths and Beliefs	Respect is a fundamental value that is promoted throughout the school. It is focussed on explicitly, as a part of Religious Education and Personal, Health and Social Education. Respect is a school value that starts with self respect, followed by respect for family, friends and other groups; the world and its people; and the environment.	Learning Walks Promotion of School values RE curriculum, planning and work books Personal, Social and Health education lessons Collective Worship	Children are able to talk about different faiths and to show respect and tolerance. They can articulate why respect is important and can show it to others.
Democracy	At All Saints Primary School democracy is seen as an important part of working as a team. It is a school value that is promoted during assemblies and as a part of Personal, Health and Social Education.	Class Council School Council R.E planning and work books Learning Walks	Children are able to work effectively in pairs and groups. They understand about turn taking and the importance of respecting the views of others.
Rule of Law	Children are familiar with this concept through the discussion of values and through the study of religions and their guiding principles. The debating and discussion of rules is a part of both class and school council. Links with the community police officer provide another opportunity for discussions.	Class rules School rules Personal, Social and Health education lessons Collective Worship R.E planning and work books Learning Walks	Children are able to articulate how and why they need to behave in school.
Individual Liberty	We value the emphasis that our teaching and learning places on our own thoughts and evidence based views. We encourage children to develop independence in their learning and to think for themselves	Children demonstrate the ability to show independence in learning and demonstrate the ability to think for themselves.	Children understand about the importance of accepting responsibility and of their right to be heard. They demonstrate independence of thought and action
